First of all, the user can not get lost in the information he had to master. So the concentration will be with him for the end. Moreover, hierarchy and paginated structure improve the readability score of the content.

The second point is the load speed. We all know, faster we get the content - the better SEO results are. The pagination allows the pages to be loaded faster due to the less content on each of them.

It is not surprising, that every paginated page has a separate URL which makes it easy to refer to. What is more, it positively affects website SEO due to reducing the likelihood of duplicate pages, so the crawlers can understand paginated page structures a way better.

How to Create Pagination on Pages

There are several ways to create pagination on pages. Of course, you can add manually.

To do so, you need to build a function that will output previous and next post links at the bottom of the page/ or post. It seems to be complicated, but if you are into programming, that would be easy to overcome.

But you also can use ready-made solutions. For example Pagination by BestWebSoft plugin. Our team works hard with the user experience and found some points where we want to take you deeper just to understand the benefits of the plugin.

Hide?

It might be that your theme does not use the standard WordPress classes. In this case, the standard pagination is not a way to use.

For those situations, you had to examine your theme and find the classes that are used for the pagination display.

Then with the help of the “Hide Custom Pagination” option hide your custom classes from the display. To do so, enter the classes you use to create pagination to the options field.
