

New Feature for Captcha: Slide Captcha RTL Languages Support

Captcha is one of the most important things to protect your website forms. This is the reason why we are updating our Captcha plugin - to ensure the security of information from our users' sites around the world.

Realizing that the protection of information is needed by users of WordPress sites who speak and live in different parts of the world, we are trying to maximize the functionality of our products for users from all kinds of countries.

In the new update for the Captcha plugin, we have added new support for RTL languages for users-beloved Slide captcha. From now, slide captcha not only works great on RTL but also looks great.

RTL Support For Slide Captcha

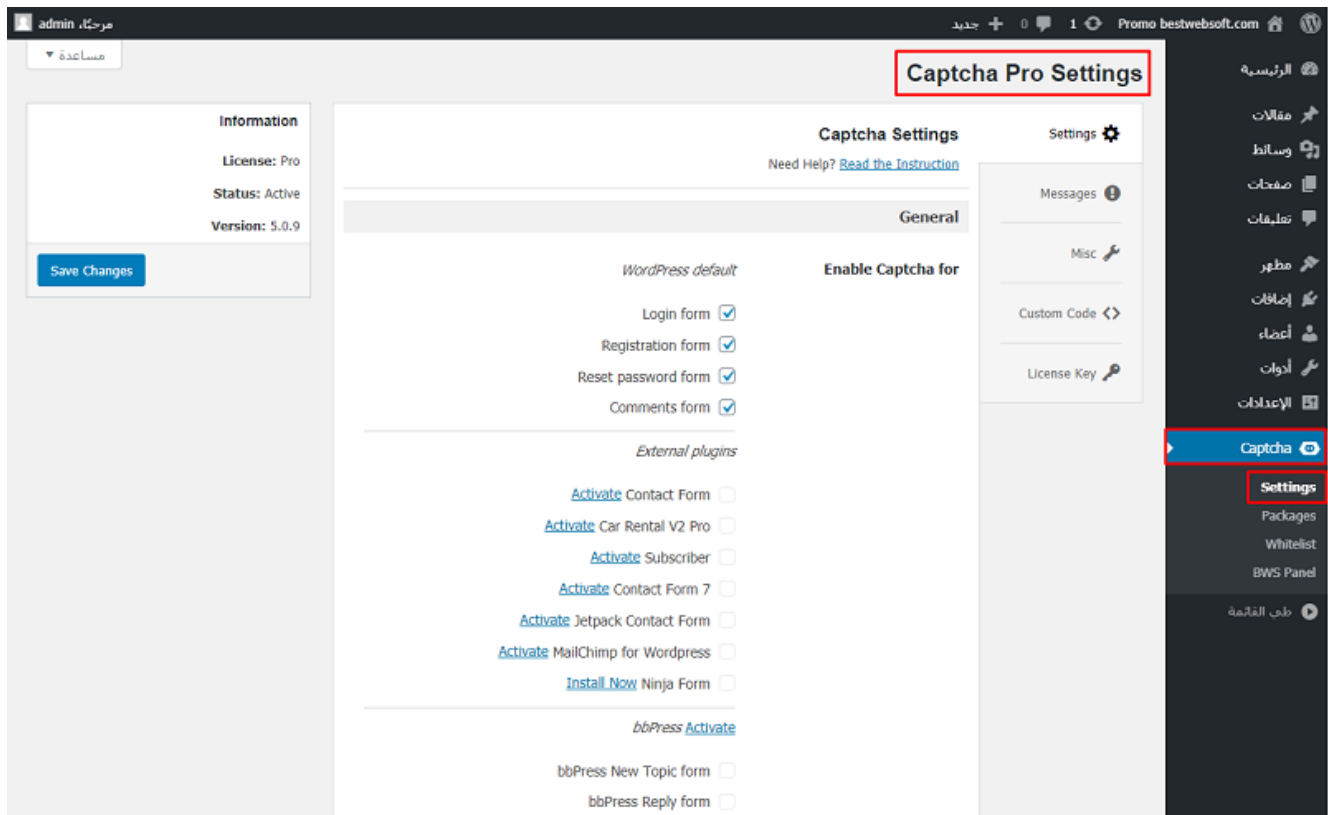

Let us show you how Slide captcha looks on the WordPress website with the Arabic language.

First of all, we got to make sure that Slide captcha type is chosen on Captcha “Settings” page. To do so, open your admin Dashboard and go to the Settings page of Captcha Plugin.

The screenshot displays the admin interface for BestWebSoft. The top navigation bar includes the user 'admin', a language selector set to 'العربية', and a 'Promo' link. The main content area is titled 'Captcha' and contains several settings sections:

- Whitelist: Includes checkboxes for 'wpForo New Topic form' and 'wpForo Reply form'. A 'Default Manage Whitelist' link is active. A note states: 'With a whitelist you can hide captcha field for your personal and trusted IP addresses'.
- Captcha Type: A red box highlights four options: 'Arithmetic actions', 'Optical Character Recognition (OCR)', 'Invisible', and 'Slide captcha' (which is selected).
- Captcha Title: A text input field with a placeholder '!'.
- Required Symbol: A text input field.
- WordPress - Login form: A checkbox labeled '.Enable to use general captcha settings' is checked.
- WordPress - Registration form: A checkbox labeled '.Enable to use general captcha settings' is checked.

A right-hand sidebar contains a menu with items like 'الرئيسية', 'مقالات', 'وسائط', 'صفحات', 'تعليقات', 'مطور', 'إضافات', 'أعضاء', 'أدوات', 'الإعدادات', 'Captcha', 'Settings', 'Packages', 'Whitelist', 'BWS Panel', and 'على القائمة'.

As a result of the actions above, we can see that the Slide captcha is displayed in the right order for the Arabic language. This feature works in the same way for Aramaic, Azeri, Dhivehi, Hebrew, Kurdish, Persian and Urdu languages.

The image shows a WordPress login interface with Arabic text. At the top is the WordPress logo. Below it is a form with the following elements:

- A label: "اسم المستخدم أو البريد الإلكتروني" (Username or email address).
- A text input field.
- A label: "كلمة المرور" (Password).
- A text input field with an eye icon for toggling visibility.
- A label: "! COMPLETE CAPTCHA".
- A "Slide to verify" slider with a blue arrow button.
- A blue button labeled "دخول" (Login).
- A checkbox labeled "تذكرني" (Remember me).

At the bottom of the form, there is a link: "تسجيل | هل فقدت كلمة مرورك؟" (Sign up | Did you lose your password?). Below the form, there is a footer: "العودة إلى Promo bestwebsoft.com" (Return to Promo bestwebsoft.com).

No additional setting – works from the box.

Conclusion

New functionality for Captcha always brings with it additional options for all categories of users who want to add an additional layer of protection to their site.

We strive to meet all the requirements of the multinational WordPress community.
